

Information sheet

Dry Fly Memories Extracts from a Don Diary John C Walker

Dry Fly Memories

~ Extracts from a Don Diary ~

John C Walker

There are many ways to fish for brown trout and my preferred way is dry-fly, as is my passion, while others prefer nymph ~ two of my favourite authors were great nymph fishermen. Heaven forbid if we anglers were all the same.

The charm of dry fly to me is that everything is visible: the hatching fly; the rising trout; the anticipation of the fly being taken or spurned. Every move is played out before my very eyes.

This book is based on extracts from my journals, kept during my 50 years of fishing on the river Don. My hope is to share the enjoyment of certain days, certain trout and memories of the people who have encouraged and influenced me.

Enjoy John's fascination with dry-fly fishing for more than 50 years. His passion for his sport has taken him beyond the river bank to discover the books, heritage and authors who have helped him to enjoy and illuminate his sport during the darker winter months for a deeper appreciation of fishing the dry-fly.

Highlights:

- ❖ 50 years fishing on the Don
- ❖ Authors he has met
- ❖ Houghton Club experiences
- ❖ Books that have influenced and encouraged him
- ❖ Maps of the Don

ISBN: 9781907640070

£15 + p&p ~ Available: Autumn 2011

Hardback ~ 180 pages

12 pages of colour plates

Black & white maps of the Don & line drawings.

All enquiries and orders to:

John Walker, Deevale, 25 Riverside Terrace, Aberdeen, Scotland AB10 7JD

Email: johnwalkerriverside@btinternet.com Tel: +44(0)1224 583281

Published by: George Mann Publications

